BIG CONFLAGRATION.

Chattanooga Suffers a Heavy
Fire Loss.

NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS.

The Largest Dry Goods House in the South Destroyed—Several Other Large Firms Suffer Heavy Losses—Several People Injured—Fire in an Insane Asylum—Other Losses.

CHATTANOOGA, Dec. 28.—The worst fire in the history of Chattanooga occurred Saturday afternoon, and for a time it looked as if the business portion of the city was doomed to destruction. At 12:45 a fire, which had evidently been smoldering for hours in the basement of D. B. Loveman & Company's dry goods house, the largest in the south, flashed into a blaze and ran up the elevator. The ladies shopping on the ground floor, and the employees on the upper floors ran for their lives, barely escaping, and two, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Hearst, jumped from the upper floor, sustaining severe injuries.

The dry goods house of Ervin & Company, immediately adjoining, caught, and it was seen that both were doomed. East of the Loveman block was Cherry street, a very narrow thoroughfare, with The Times office on the corner. The chances were ten to one that the great Times newspaper establishment would be cleaned out, but she came out unscathed except for a small loss.

Loveland's building, cornered on Eighth street, barely forty feet wide, and the flames jumped it at a bound, gutting the first building, running through from Market to Cherry street, and pretty thoroughly cleaning out the upper floors of two three-story buildings adjoining.

The fire department of the city comprises only three second-class steamers and two hook and ladder trucks. It began to look as if help was an absolute necessity, and telegrams were sent to Knoxville, Atlanta and Nashville for aid. Knoxville responded, sending an engine. After a long fight the fire was gotten under control.

The heaviest losers are: D. B. Loveman, dry goods, $225,000; Ervin & Company, $105,000; Banks, $30,000; J. H. Schwartz, shoes, $30,000; J. H. Vandeman, $15,000; Silva & Abbott, crockery, $20,000; Christie, dry goods, $25,000; J. Gottschalk, furniture, $15,000; W. D. Kelly, $20,000; Eighth street stocks, $20,000; Adams block, $1,000; Times, $1,000; Colweb club, $5,000; chamber of commerce, $2,500.

The Fourth National and Southern Bank and Trust company were on opposite sides of Eighth street, and suffered the loss of their fixtures.

The other eight street losers are as follows: Wester & Moring, insurance; W. I. Alexander, real estate; Great Southern Tea company; Martin & Heiny, real estate; M. J. Weaver, millinery; T. A. Roberts, jeweler; W. B. Van Wagner, druggist; R. E. Ulbricht, insurance; P. S. Griffith, real estate; C. C. Alexander, real estate; Charles Peacock; Harris, Thomson & Quinn; Chattanooga Savings bank, room fitted up, but not yet occupied.

The insurance of the heaviest losers is as follows: D. B. Loveman, stock, $162,750; building, $49,000; Ervin & Company, stock, $31,500; building, $7,500; Christie & Company, stock, $20,000; building, $7,500; Schwartz & Company, stock, $42,200; Silva & Abbott, stock, $20,500; Gottschalk & Company, stock, $20,000; W. D. Kelly, stock, $5,000; C. C. Bloomfield, building, $5,000; Hall, building, $8,000.

FIRE IN AN INSANE ASYLUM.

Five Hundred Female Inmates, But All Were Saved.

PONTIAC, Mich., Dec. 23.—Fire was discovered in the north wing of the Eastern Michigan insane asylum Saturday. The flames spread with fearful rapidity, and with the limited facilities at hand the firemen were powerless. Fifteen minutes after the first alarm was sounded the occupants of the wing—500 women—were turned loose.

Screaming frantically with terror, the maniacs surged through the corridors, where the air was already filled with smoke. Tongues of flame were visible through it all, and the sight filled the demented creatures with terror. Some ran like wild animals, trampling their slower companions in their mad effort to escape. Others were paralyzed with fright, and stood rooted to the spot, with eyes staring horribly into the roaring fire.

The attendants performed deeds of heroism in the endeavor to rescue the helpless. Rushing hither and thither, dragging the hesitating ones from their rooms, they drove the insane women into the open air. When some were once upon the outside they would break away and rush for the building again. Superintendent Burr and his assistants on the medical staff gave directions for the removal of the inmates, and by their excellent and valiant labors, all, it is believed, were rescued alive.

A strenuous effort was made to convey the patients to the cottages for safe keeping. It was utterly impossible. Some few of them were induced to retire to shelter, but the great majority of the 500 demented women huddled together in the cold, piercing wind, and gazed with terror upon the fire. Those who had run away into the woods were brought back and placed in the cottages. There were willing hands in plenty, and the unfortunates were soon made as comfortable as possible.

Upon the first discovery of the fire the Pontiac department was notified. The single steamer in the place made the run of three miles at a break-neck gait. When the first stream was turned upon the flames the north wing was seen to be doomed, and every energy was bent to stopping the fire at the center. A few minutes later citizens of Pontiac began to arrive on the scene, and soon an army of several hundred men was at work.

The fear was that the fire would make its way across to the south wing, where nearly 700 men were confined. Preparations were immediately made to remove the men if it became necessary. Inside the south wing, from the moment the flames came in sight, the wildest excitement prevailed. The 700 crazy men tore about the narrow confines of their rooms yelling like demons, not from fear, as it seemed, but rather with exultation. The fire filled them with a terrible ecstasy. A few appreciated the danger, and their terror was pitiful.

At 1 o'clock the firemen were confident that they had the flames under control. At that hour a steamer arrived from Detroit and the fire fiend was soon conquered. The fire was confined to the north wing, or female ward, and the center, or administration building. The entire south wing, or men's wards, escaped, and it was not found necessary to remove the inmates.

The loss is placed at not over $200,000 on the building; $1,500 will cover loss on personal effects of patients and attendants. The physicians' library was badly damaged. It is considered a miracle that of the 780 patients in the asylum, no lives were lost, nor any one injured.

A curious incident in connection with the fire was related of a patient who has long been considered dangerous, but under the excitement his reason returned to him, and he offered his services in fighting the fire, which were gladly accepted.

Livery Barn Burned.

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 28.—Goosman Brothers' livery, in this city, was entirely destroyed by fire Saturday night. All the horses were saved, as were also the hacks and buggies on the first floor. A hack and a dozen or more buggies on the second floor were burned. There was a $5,000 insurance on the building. The loss will be much greater than the insurance, but the owners of the property are as yet unable to place an estimate on the damage.

Entire Family Cremated.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Dec. 28.—W. H. Pearsall, wife and family, living six miles from this city, were burned to death in their dwelling. The charred bodies of the victims were discovered three days afterward. Weightman Thompson, a former rejected suitor of the murdered man's wife, has been arrested on suspicion of having committed the crime.

Old Homestead Destroyed.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Dec. 28.—The old Wesley homestead, on the Casino farm, in Bowers Bay, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. It was the work of an incendiary. The loss, including the value of the paintings and antique furniture consumed, is estimated at $100,000; partially insured.

Loss to a Railroad.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 28.—The round house and repairing shops of the Susquehanna railroad, at Wertendyke, were destroyed by fire yesterday. The building was built of wood and burned quickly. Four engines and several lumber cars were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $32,000.

Of Supposed Incendiary Origin.

WATERTOWN, Wis., Dec. 28.—Yesterday fire destroyed $20,000 worth of property at Johnson's Creek, eight miles south of this city, including three store buildings, two saloons, one office building, one residence and the contents of all. It is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Valuable Goods Destroyed.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—A fire in Hoffmeister's dress trimming store, 150 West Fourth street, Saturday night, destroyed stock valued at $35,000, on which there was an insurance of about $25,000. The building was not destroyed, being damaged only several hundred dollars worth.

Steel Works Destroyed.

READING, Pa., Dec. 28.—The Carpenter Steel works was almost totally destroyed by fire Saturday night. One small mill and the office are all that are left. Loss over $125,000. Partially insured.

Man Down and Killed by Cars.

ZALESKI, O., Dec. 28.—An unknown man, aged about sixty, was killed by a westbound passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway Saturday afternoon, near Hope, four miles east of this place, and was brought here for burial. From papers found in his possession he seems to be a canvasser and agent. Letters in his possession were addressed to Jessie Arnold, at Hawk's Nest, W. Va., and three are from a wayward son in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville. Others were signed, "Your nephew, Joseph Arnold, Chateau, Mon." When killed he was walking ahead of the train, and did not heed the warning signals.

Walt Whitman Still Lives.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—The condition of the poet, Walt Whitman, is somewhat improved, but he is still extremely weak and his physicians say that death may come at any moment. The vitality of the aged poet is surprising.

The Cough Syrup Proved Fatal.

CANTON, O., Dec. 28.—The three-year-old son of John Moeglin drank a large quantity of cough syrup. This syrup contained opium, and the child died from its effects despite medical aid.

Accidentally Killed by Her Son.

ACROSS THE BORDER.

A Battle Between Mexican
Troops and Revolutionists.

THE UNITED STATES INVADIED

Garza's Band, Two Hundred Strong Driven Across the Rio Grande and Are Now in Texas—A Battle from Both Sides of the River—United States Troops Sent to Drive the Invaders Out.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 28.—The forces of the Garza revolutionists in northern Mexico and along the Texas side of the Rio Grande border are rapidly increasing. According to present indications the numerous detachments are moving toward Camargo, Mex., where they will concentrate, and then proceed in a body toward the interior.

There was another engagement Saturday night between Garza's followers and a regiment of Mexican troops at the San Ignacia ranch near Carrizo, Tex. The fight was at long range. The Mexican troops were located on their side of the river, while the revolutionists were on Texas soil. One of the government soldiers was killed and a number on both sides badly wounded. The revolutionists were making their way toward Camargo, about 250 being in the detachment, and were some distance from the border when discovered and attacked by the Mexican troops. The revolutionists retreated, keeping up a running fire and escaped across the river into Texas, making a bold stand on their side.

Owing to the lack of necessary protection by the United States troops the movement of the revolutionists and their bold violation of the United States neutrality laws was not known to the authorities here until late yesterday afternoon. The first news of the engagement to reach here came in a dispatch to Dr. Plutarch Inchausti, the Mexican consul, from the Mexican consul at Laredo. The secretary of war at once telegraphed General David S. Stanley commanding this military department, to take decisive and immediate steps to ward putting down the troubles on this side of the border. In addition to the United States troops doing field duty in the turbulent sections, there are large forces of state rangers and United States deputy marshals stationed at various points between Eagle Pass and Brownsville.

There has been no official word received at the department headquarters here from Captain Francis H. Hardie, of the Third cavalry, but a reliable report reached this point yesterday from Laredo that he and his command are in pursuit of 200 revolutionists who had been camping and receiving recruits near Encinal, Texas.

Captain John G. Bourke, of the Third cavalry, who is in command of Fort Ringgold, has not been heard from for two days and no orders from the superior officers located here has been able to reach him, which leads to the belief here that the telegraph wires have been cut between Rio Grande City and Brownsville, or that he is surrounded by the revolutionists.

A dispatch was received here late last night from Nueva Laredo, Mex., stating that a large number of revolutionist troops near Vargo, Mex., in the state of Nueva Leon, and a battle ensued, the government troops slowly retreating under a skirmish fire by Garza's men. One of the revolutionists was killed, but the loss to the government force is not known. Eight of the revolutionists were taken prisoners and brought to Nueva Leon. They will all be shot.

WIRED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Bob Sims and His Band a Thing of the Past.

SHUBUTA, Miss., Dec. 29.—Thursday morning a large body of determined men followed Sims and three of his gang to Sims' home, surrounding the house. Firing by the citizens and also by the gang from Sims' house continued until 3 p. m. Christmas Day. After consultations between the sheriff and Sims, the latter agreed to surrender on condition that they be protected and carried to Butler jail.

The sheriff promised the best protection he could give under the circumstances. Sims selected twenty-five men and the sheriff twenty-five, and started with them to Butler. About one mile from Sims' house a body of men from 100 to 200 strong took them from the guard and lunged them all to one tree. Sims expressed fears that he would never reach the jail dead or alive. When he was placed in the buggy for the fatal ride, he refused to be blindfolded. He held out his hand and asked them to feel of his pulse to see if he was frightened, and said he was going to heaven. Young Savage said:

"If you think enough of me to bury me, put me by the side of Sims. We are fighting for the same cause." They died cursing. The women were turned loose.

The names of the Simsites hung are Bob Sims, Tom Savage, Con Savage and his two grown sons.

Thus ends the defiance of the United States, the state of Alabama, and, in fact, all laws by the notorious Bob Sims and four of his followers.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Dec. 28.—A telegram just received from Norton, Va., says that there has been no attempts to lynch Hall since Wednesday night, when a party of eighteen men went from Norton to Gladeville and asked the guard if they would release Hall without a fight, and when told that they would defend Hall to the last the party dispersed.

Marshal Fatally Shot by a Negro.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 28.—At Sharpsburg City Marshal J. Taylor Vice was fatally shot by a negro he was trying to arrest.

CHILI'S PRESIDENT INAUGURATED.

Minister Egan the Only Foreign Minister
Not Present at the Ceremonies.

VALPARAISO, Dec. 28.—At the inauguration ceremonies of Chili's new president, Admiral Jorge Montt, at Santiago, Saturday, all the foreign ministers were present, with the exception of the United States representative, Mr. Egan. His absence caused much comment in diplomatic circles.

The inauguration took place in the presence of a vast and enthusiastic assemblage. Everything passed off quietly, despite the ugly rumors prevalent for some days past that the occasion would be seized upon by the Balmacedists as a favorable opportunity for an outbreak and attempt to assassinate the new chief magistrate. If any such plan had been in contemplation, the imposing military display by the authorities evidently overpowered its promoters.

President Montt took the oath of office in the hall of congress, and proceeded to the cathedral, where he received the blessing of the church, and a Te Deum was sung by the great crowd in attendance. Troops lined the street through which the presidential procession passed, and armed soldiers were stationed at all points the eye could reach.

Train Wrecked by Montt's Enemies.

The express train between Valparaiso and Santiago was wrecked the previous night. Aboard the train were a number of distinguished adherents of the new government, who were on their way to Santiago to attend the inauguration ceremonies. Fortunately none were injured, although all of the passengers received a severe shaking up.

Investigation showed that some miscreant or miscreants had removed two of the rails. It is the general belief that the dastardly work was committed by men who were in the pay of political enemies of President Jorge Montt and his associates. There were a number of Chilean naval officers in the train, and this fact seems to have been well known to the perpetrators of the crime.

More Charges Against Egan.

Letters were published Saturday in various Chilean papers from the intendant of Santiago to Minister of Foreign Affairs Matta, alleging that the police who have been keeping guard over the American legation, notwithstanding the protest of the United States and other foreign ministers, had been insulted by the refugees to whom Mr. Egan is affording protection at great personal inconvenience to himself.

The intendant also alleges that the policemen had been insulted by Minister Egan's younger son. Mr. Egan emphatically denies the story, and says it is an absolute lie. So far there has been no row in either Valparaiso or Santiago.

The Democracia, a paper which made its first appearance Saturday, violently attacks the present government, and gives voice to the views of the friends of Balmaceda.

THE BRIDGE GAVE WAY.

Eleven Men Plunged Into an Ice River and Seven of them Injured.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—Injuries varying from probably fatal to slight were inflicted Saturday on seven men by the falling of the bridge in process of construction over Fall creek, which runs between this city and North Indianapolis.

Following is the list:

Emmett Barr, spinal and other internal injuries; probably fatal.
John Ferguson, left leg mangled and internal injuries; condition serious.
Mont Cleft, both feet crushed and injured internally.

Jacob Fintz, George Bolon, Thomas Cronan and Albert Hobson, all badly bruised.

The bridge was under contract to the Wrought Iron Bridge company, of Canton, O. Quicksand under one of the supports is supposed to have been the cause of the accident.

Eleven men were at work on the span when the crash came, the plunge being fifteen feet down into five feet of ice-cold water.

The first report that reached the city was that from six to ten men had been killed, and great excitement prevailed.

Several of the injured men were almost chilled to death before they could be rescued.

HEIRS TO MILLIONS.

Some People Being Made Believe That
They Will Soon Be Rich.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 28.—A sensation has been sprung here by the claim of Attorney Hunter, of Urbana, that Almon, Lyman, Marion, John and Edward Kimble and their sisters, Mrs. Mary Sloat and Mrs. Annie Miller, all of this county, living near Vienna, are the heirs to $65,000,000 and 2,000 acres of land in England. Attorney Hunter has been in England twice looking up the matter, and claims to have made claim to the vast estate and money.

He says the case will come up in the court of chancery of England next February. The Kimbles are descendants of Roswell Kimble, who came to this country early in the nineteenth century. He married a sister in England by the name of Hyde, and had one heir, George, deceased, who left the large family given above. It is through the mother that the estate comes. Lawyer Hunter claims that Hyde Pa. is the situation of the 2,000 acres claimed by the Kimbles.

A Nest of Vipers.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 28.—While engaged in removing some old fencing, J. W. Davidson, a wealthy farmer of this county, found a nest of snakes under a rotten old post. He says there were not less than 400 or 500 reptiles in the nest, and that there were about a dozen different species in the collection, some of the most venomous kind. Very few of them were in a torpid condition, and began to crawl away when exposed to the warm air.

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1891.

CHAIRMAN JOHN B. CASTLEMAN, of the State Central Committee, has called a caucus of "the Democratic members-elect of each branch of the General Assembly" for to-morrow at 7:30 p. m. to nominate candidates for the various positions to be filled. The call is very nicely worded. No Independents will figure in that caucus.

The West Union Defender's bill for publishing the report of the Commissioners of Adams County is $901. The Bulletin publishes the financial statistics of this county every year and gets the pitiful sum of $14. Of course we don't go into all the details and we don't publish the matter for the $14, but simply to keep our readers informed.

A recent examination of the inmates of the Milwaukee Soldiers' Home has brought to light some interesting information. Over 200 of the veterans had no right to be there. Of 2,252 inmates examined, 184 were found to be physically able to obtain a living without the benefit of the home. Some such inmates, besides drawing pensions, were found to possess more or less property outside the home. If the pension list were purged of unworthy and undeserving names, many a "veteran" would have to quit drawing support from Uncle Sam.

"One pleasing result has followed upon the dissemination of President Harrison's message," says the Philadelphia Record. "The Republican editors have gone into committee of the whole on the subject of 'gerrymandering.' They could not be better engaged. When, as a result of their communications, we shall see that they propose to undo the gerrymanders with which they have tied the hands of the people in Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire, Connecticut and other States where opportunity has offered, we shall begin to think that the heaven of repentance is getting in its work. Restitution should be met with restitution whenever it shall be offered."

In speaking of the outrageous treatment of Rev. John Reeves at Millersburg, the correspondent of the Kentuckian-Citizen from that place says that it was done by some bad boys. At the same time ladies were insulted. He says: "As the young ladies of the Female College were going from church at the same time a crowd of rough boys forced them from the pavement to walk in the street, and the boys on the pavement fired revolvers to frighten them. No gentleman would be guilty of such actions, and this lawlessness and rowdiness must be stopped or soon we will be no better than the uncivilized towns of our mountain districts." The correspondent might have added that soon Millersburg will not have any female college.

The Democrats and the Tariff.

Frank G. Carpenter, a writer for the Courier-Journal, has had an interesting interview with Senator Carlisle, and gives the result in Sunday's issue of that paper. In discussing the issues between the two parties Senator Carlisle said: "The tariff plank in the next Democratic National platform ought to declare in favor of a just revision and reduction of tariff taxation, with due regard, of course, to the raising of revenue and to the industrial situation, as it has grown up under the existing system. Theoretically I am a free-trader, because I believe that all taxes are simply necessary evils, but it will be a long time before we can have free trade in this country. We must approach it gradually, step by step. If it were an original question, the situation, of course, would be different, but we have to deal with artificial conditions and can not expect to accomplish a complete reform by a single measure of legislation. We will always need a certain amount of money to carry on the government, and we must always impose taxes of some kind to pay its expenses. But my idea of a good government is one which accomplishes its purposes with the least possible taxation upon the people. Not only should the rate of taxation be as small as possible consistent with the raising of the necessary amount of revenue, but the burdens of taxation should be distributed as equally as possible upon the people, according to their ability to bear them. Our present system of taxation violates both of these rules in the most flagrant manner."

For the Children.

Our readers will notice the advertisements in these columns of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, Iowa. From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our children and we are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost and are recommending it every day.—Centerville (S. D.) Chronicle and Index.

"She Couldn't Marry 'Three.'"

The above title seemed to arouse the curiosity of the New York public, so much so that on the opening night the house was packed to the doors. The success of the play was instantaneous, and during the entire New York engagement the theatre was crowded. The play is an unqualified success; the scenery beyond anything seen yet; the company a powerful and evenly balanced one, and Miss Lillian Kennedy, as the heroine "Bess," presents a characterization which for histrionic ability has never been surpassed on the American stage.

ORACRAFT-DYE NUPTIALS.

"Forest Home," Near Mayslick, the Scene of a Happy Event
December 22nd.

A charming home wedding was solemnized at the residence "Forest Home," of "Squire and Mrs. Hiram Dye, two miles west of Mayslick, Tuesday afternoon, December 22nd, at 1:30 o'clock.

The bride, Miss Nannie B. Dye, is a slender, lithe girl above the medium height, a perfect brunette with hair as dark as night, pretty red lips, sparkling black eyes and a pure olive complexion. She wore a traveling costume of French blue cloth with fur trimmings, of stylish mode, and a jaunty turban to match. Her winter wrap was an elaborate and becoming coat "fitting like a glove on her shoulder," as the poet said of the coat of his lady-love. She carried a bouquet of Marchal Neil roses.

The groom, Mr. H. M. Oracraft is one of Mason's wide awake farmer boys who knows how to "wield the plow and spade." The combination is fortunate. The bride having artistic and musical talents together with domestic culture and experience; the groom the solid bread winning qualities of the thrifty man.

The ushers in full evening dress were Messrs. Wood Browning and Joseph Grigsby of this county. Rev. J. Dallas Simmons, of the Mayslick Baptist Church, pronounced the impressive ceremony in the presence of one hundred witnesses. For the entrance of the bridal party Miss Lida Berry, an accomplished pianist from Maysville, played the grand old wedding march "which has launched its many thousands and will launch as many more."

During the ceremony she played softly that beautiful serenade, "Call Me Thine Own," and at the close of the ministerial blessing, merged into the inspiring strains of the Lohengrin wedding march.

The scene of the nuptial celebration, the west parlor, was by tasteful decorations transformed into a floral bower. Daylight had been carefully excluded, the lamps lighted and the pictures and bric-a-brac ornamented with amylax and mistletoe wrought into wreaths gracefully festooned.

The sweet notes of the recessional march had scarce floated away ere Mr. Oracraft and his winsome bride had passed from the sacred precincts of the old home, and under the conduct of Prof. Venable were driven to Maysville, where they took the F. & V. for Cincinnati; thence to Columbus, terminating their bridal tour at New Philadelphia, where a reception will be given them by the bride's uncle and aunt.

While it is not considered in good form to talk about wedding presents, we may state that the bride was not forgotten along this line. As the party went merrily away a shower of rice fell upon them, mingled with the good-byes and good wishes of hundreds of friends, the prayers of father and mother and a general invocation for a happy union and a rose-crowned future.

Where's William Fountain?

J. H. Campbell, of Richmond, Va., writes to Postmaster Davis for information of the whereabouts of William Fountain. Campbell married Fountain's sister, Sarah A., May 21, 1889. She died December 2nd, this year. A letter awaits Fountain at the Maysville postoffice.

Couldn't Fool Him.

[Exchange.]

A Texas farmer entered the office of a Dallas, Texas, merchant prince and asked him if he would like to buy some fresh butter, which he had brought to town in his wagon.

"I really don't know whether my wife needs any butter just now, but I'll find out," replied the merchant, and stepping to the telephone he called up his wife and had some conversation on the subject. Then he turned to the countryman, who had watched the proceedings, and whose face was a study for an artist.

"No," said the merchant; "my wife tells me that she has butter enough on hand to last for some time."

"That's all right, Cap. You needn't buy any butter if you don't want to. All you have got to do is to say so; but you needn't play me for a fool by trying to make me believe you have got your wife locked up in that little box. I reckon I have some sense left, if I am from the country. You can't fool me."

Pork-Packing and Provisions.

(Cincinnati Price Current, December 21.)

The week's packing in the West has been approximately 570,000 hogs, against 625,000 the preceding week, and 475,000 last year, making a total of 3,965,000 since November 1, compared with 3,610,000 a year ago—Increase, 355,000 hogs. The indications appear to be that the maximum movement has been reached but good supplies are still in sight. Should values of corn weaken in any notable degree and prices of hogs assume a more encouraging promise, the effect would probably be to check the hurrying of hogs into market in most regions.

At seven bushels of corn as the equivalent of 100 pounds live weight of hogs, it is apparent that current values furnish a satisfactory premium for feeding hogs. The modern bred animal, with such favorable weather as has been experienced this season, should gain a hundred pounds from the equivalent of seven or seven and a half bushels merchantable corn. The old plan was to reckon ten bushels, and this is still the basis of calculation to a great extent, but is deceptive. It was remarked by the Price Current some weeks ago that the proper course for the farmer to pursue this season would be to pay no attention to the current market quotations for corn and hogs, but to pursue the policy of feeding his animals into mature condition. The course of events has unquestionably justified his proposition. Values of hogs would now be higher—payers would be carrying higher stocks any would not be inclined to regard the outlook as doubtfully—every feature of the situation would be better, compared with the existing conditions.

The past week has shown a tendency in the provision trade to lower values, closing at a decline of 3 1/2% on pork, 12 1/2% cents per 100 pounds on lard, and 2 1/2% cents on short rib sides, at Chicago, for January. Values for January delivery at Chicago are now on the basis of $3.20 per bushel for corn, and $3.75 for hogs. The current distribution of product is of liberal volume. Here at Cincinnati and some other markets the mild temperature is operating depressively on values. The week's clearance of the equivalent were a fair liberal, but short of the large movement in corresponding period last year. The foreign trade appears to be in pretty good shape, and the outlook is encouraging.

ONE of Maysville's most successful and most progressive allopathic physicians stated a few days since that he firmly believed he had prevented several of his gripple patients from having pneumonia by simply giving them aconite in drop doses every hour or so. Nothing else was given and the improvement in twenty-four hours he said was remarkable.

GEO. W. BELL, formerly of this county, died December 17th at Cincinnati, aged eighty-six years. He was an uncle of Mr. James M. Mitchell, President of Mitchell, Finch & Co.'s Bank. Mr. Bell's niece, Mrs. Lucilla Payne, of Clay County, Missouri, died not long since. She was the fourth child of twelve born to Judge James Morris, at one time a citizen of Mayslick.

SAYS the Covington Commonwealth: "Friday morning a young man rang the bell at the residence of Rev. W. S. Priest, pastor of the Fourth street church, and gave the preacher a large sign on which were the words: 'The Fourth Street Christian Church wish you and yours a Merry Christmas.' The young man pointed to a delivery wagon full of groceries, which, he said, he was instructed to leave at 1118 Madison avenue. The wagon was soon emptied, and now there is enough of the good things to eat at that preacher's house to start a young grocery."

MR. CHARLES H. WALZ, formerly of this city, but now agent of the Missouri Pacific Railway at Richards, Mo., was married Wednesday afternoon, December 16, at Nevada, Mo., to Miss Mary F. Butts. The ceremony was performed in the Baptist Church, Rev. J. M. Plannett, pastor, officiating. The bride is a daughter of J. W. Butts, a prominent farmer living near Nevada, and the Democrat of that city says: "She is not only a most lovable girl, but accomplished and refined." The Chronicle, of Richards says: "Mr. Walz has been a resident of our town only a few weeks, but by his genial and accommodating manners has won many friends, who together with the Chronicle, wish him and his a pleasant journey through life, and extend to them a cordial welcome to our town."

Railway News.

The Indianapolis Union and Belt Line handled this year during eleven months 660,000 freight cars and 304,260 passenger coaches on its line.

Kentucky Central stockholders have been notified that the new Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company unified bonds will be delivered January 1.

The Railway Age shows that in forty-three States and Territories this year, 4,168 miles of new road had been built, increasing the railway system of the United States to 171,000 miles.

The Census Office bulletin, giving the statistics of railroad operations in Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, shows that during the ten years ended in 1880, the roads carried 3,766,539 passengers, and that the service paid $8,780,853. For the same length of time, ending in 1890, the number transported was 20,567,472, and the earnings $20,024,232.

REV. W. J. E. COX preached his farewell sermon as pastor of the First Baptist Church last night. The Central Presbyterian, the Christian and the M. E. Church, South, united in the services, and the main room did not afford accommodations for the large crowd in attendance. The text was Paul's closing words to the Corinthians. Rev. Cox spoke of his reasons for accepting the call to Staunton, and closed with an earnest exhortation to the members to be perfect, of good comfort, of one mind and to live in peace. He leaves for his new field of labor this week.

MINER'S MAXIMS.

For '92 a Greeting, For '91 a Tear;
For Those Who Choose From Miner's
Shoes, Fine Footwear For a Year.

If Miner's Shoes are anything, they are admirably made. They are comparatively cheap, and the material in them is invariably such as justifies the strongest guarantees on the score of durability. They look well, wear well, retain their shape and are just as sure of keeping good opinions to the end as they are of winning them at the outset.

GIVE Miner your attention for a moment. It won't be a moment lost, and you may gain something worth many moments many times multiplied. You will say of the Shoes you buy from him that they warrant the use of fifty glittering adjectives in praise of them and you will never have a word to say at all when the time for criticism comes.

BETWEEN a good Shoe and a bad one there is no great financial gulf. The one that you wear with pleasure can be purchased for about as much as the one that gives you not a moment's peace. The plagues of Egypt were not much more intolerable than a trashy Shoe. Keep clear of them as you would avoid a pestilence. What Miner asks is this: Give his Shoes a chance to tell their own story.

Our stock of dolls being exhausted, we are now giving our Shoe Club certificates with every pair of Shoes sold. The next selections will be made on Monday, January 4, 1892. Remember it costs you nothing to become a member of these clubs, and you may be fortunate enough to get a pair of Shoes free of charge.

PANIC IN A THEATER.

Caused by the Startling Cry of "Fire."

A WILD RUSH NOR THE EXITS.

Men, Women and Children Trampled to Death, and Many Others Seriously Injured—A Display of Brutal Selfishness, Seldom If Ever Equalled—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A frightful panic occurred Saturday night in the Royal theater, Gateshead, resulting in the loss of a number of lives. Gateshead is a considerable city in Durham, and, as nearly the whole population is engaged in the manufacturing industries during the week, the places of amusement are usually crowded on Saturday. Saturday night, owing to the Christmas season, the Royal theater was thronged with working people.

The audience, while not unruly, indulged in more license than is allowed in most London theaters, and boys smoked in the balcony without any apparent objection on the part of the attendants. The piece on the stage was of a sort familiar in the provincial manufacturing places, including magic sleight-of-hand and other variety. One of the boys smoking in the gallery accidentally dropped a burning match on the people below him. The match set fire to some of the theatrical furniture, exactly what is not yet known, but at any rate the slight blaze communicated to a partition. A woman noticed the fire and shrieked that the theater was burning. At once the audience, not comprehending the exact danger, made a sudden and simultaneous rush to escape.

Every aisle and avenue became packed and the audience, which was numerous enough to have made exit slow and difficult had there been no panic, became one panting, struggling mass of cursing men, and crying, half-suffocated women and children. The strong, heavy men from iron works and mills showed no pity for the weaker sex. If a woman or child fell beneath the strain, she or it was at once crushed under iron-shod heels. Men climbed on each other's heads and sought to tread over the squirming mass of humanity to safety. Women pleaded for their little ones, holding them above their heads as far as arms could reach, and the babes, with breath squeezed out of them, were saved in several instances by being grasped in the strong hands of men able to hold them with one arm above the crowd.

Down the main staircase the multitude struggled and panted. The janitor, Foster, had rushed to open the door at the foot of the stairs. The solid crowd fell on him like an immense Krupp hammer, crushing the life out of his body, which was flattened to the door. Down with him went the eight or ten at the head of the mass, and they, too, had the lives stamped out of them. Behind the shrieks and loud oaths, with appeals for mercy and exhortations against the creator, made a hell; in front, at the foot of the stairs, was the rampart of dying and dead, over which the escaping multitude had to climb.

Meantime those on the stage had not been idle. It was soon apparent to the players that the panic had little or no cause and they shouted appeals to the people to be still. One actor, in the attire of a magician, climbed into the balcony from the stage, and implored the audience to be calm. "Return to your seats," he cried, "there is no fire; the only danger is your panic." Some of those in the rear turned at his words, and stopped their share in the mad struggle to get out, but the large majority heeded not the warning, and pressed on.

Two men, thinking they had no other way of escape, leaped from the windows into the street and were severely injured. Many slid down into the pit by the supports of the balcony. When the theater was at length emptied and the panic over, it was found that ten were dead, and that many others had broken limbs, and were otherwise seriously injured.

The fire itself, which had given occasion to the horror, was but a slight affair, having only burned through a thin partition, and was easily extinguished with two buckets of water. It was sufficient, however, to make some smoke, which hung about the ceiling, and the sight of the smoke had much to do with perpetuating the panic, when it might otherwise have been calmed.

The city of Gateshead has been thrown into general mourning by the calamity, and the theater guarded by the police from the multitude of the curious. Many pathetic incidents occurred in the terrible crush for the doors, but it is also stated that the display of brutal selfishness overcame every other feature of the awful occurrence.

OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

Thirteen People Injured in a Western Railroad Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28.—The west-bound passenger train on the Santa Fe from Chicago, due at Kansas City at 8:30 Sunday morning, was wrecked at Newcomb, Mo., a small station about six miles east of Carrollton, at 6 o'clock in the morning, by spreading rails. The rear part of the train, consisting of a chair car, two Pullmans and a dining car, left the track and went down an eighteen-foot embankment. Thirteen persons were injured, but no one was killed or fatally hurt.

Following is a complete list of the injured: Conductor William Woodworth, of Chicago, badly bruised in various parts of the body.

Mrs. Eliza Toomey, of Marion, Kan., scalp wound and sprained ankle.

William Kastou, head cook in dining car, scalded.

Charles Dempsey, second cook, scalded.

C. W. Scott, of Chicago, scalp wound.

J. R. Whiteford, of Topeka, scalp wound.

William Decker, of Topeka, scalp wound.

Mrs. William Decker, of Topeka, shoulder bruised.

Two small children of Mr. Decker, scalp wounds.

W. J. Kruss, conductor of Pullman, back sprained.

J. C. Barton, of Severy, Kan., head cut and bruised.

Mrs. Nellie A. Watson, of Topeka, Kan., badly bruised about the head and body.

The engine, baggage and express cars passed safely over the place where the rails spread and the chair car was the first to leave the track. It turned completely over and stood upright at the foot of the embankment. There were about twenty persons in this car and ten of them were injured. The first sleeper turned over and laid on its side and the inmates were compelled to crawl out of a hole in the bottom of the coach.

A CRANK'S DEMANDS.

He Wants Cornelius Vanderbilt's Brain for Medical Examination.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—New York has once more been startled by the appearance of a new crank. He is a young man, barely twenty years of age and a member of the Young Men's Christian association. Saturday night he called at the Vanderbilt mansion at about 10:30 p. m., and asked the servant, who responded to his ring, whether Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt was in. The answer was in the affirmative.

"I wish to see him," said the stranger.

He was told that Mr. Vanderbilt was engaged in the parlor with some friends and could not be interrupted.

"I want his brain," exclaimed the young man in a voice sufficiently loud to reach the ears of the magnate and his guests.

The servant hastily tried to close the door. Perceiving his purpose, the stranger placed his foot between the door and the jamb, and through the aperture thus left, continued his irrational ejaculations.

"Tell Mr. Vanderbilt that I want his brain for medical examination. He is rich and I am poor and I want his brain, for medical examination. I want to have both our brains examined to see what the difference is between them."

While he was thus delivering himself a servant issued from the basement and called an officer who took the crank into custody. There were no weapons found upon him, and violence was apparently not his purpose.

In court yesterday the prisoner, who says his name is John J. Lingman, an American and a New Yorker, was committed for examination as to his mental soundness.

A DISPUTED BOUNDARY.

Maryland Lays Claim to a Large Tract of West Virginia Territory.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.—The attorney general of Maryland has filed, in the supreme court of the United States, a bill against the state of West Virginia, the object of which is to settle the disputed boundary line between the two states. It is claimed in the bill that the South Branch, instead of the North Branch, of the Potomac is the true boundary.

Should the claims of Maryland be sustained, and the South Branch be held to be the line, it will take from West Virginia a large extent of territory and almost separate the eastern Panhandle from the rest of the state. Virginia and West Virginia together have held to the North Branch, and have been in possession of the disputed lands for more than one hundred years. No fears are entertained here of the ultimate success of the suit.

Copies of the bill have been procured by Governor Fleming, and under joint resolution of the legislature, he has appointed ex-State Senators Price and Flinnay, of this city, to assist the attorney general of West Virginia in resisting Maryland's claims.

HELD UNDER SUSPICION.

The Authorities Believe That They Have the Packwood Murderer.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—Word has reached here that the authorities in Augusta, Ga., have a man under arrest on suspicion of being the murderer of the four Packwoods, near New Smyrna, Fla., two weeks ago. The prisoner gives his name as Dorsey, and admits that he was working within two miles of New Smyrna at the time of the murder.

He was arrested as a vagrant tramping his way north and would have been discharged but for suspicions attaching to him. He wears No. 8 boots with box toes and walks somewhat on the outside of his feet. He is quite bowlegged. His footprints are said to correspond exactly with those found outside the Packwood house. Florida officers are now on their way to Augusta to investigate this claim.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 28.—"Tony" Barry, during a game of cards on the steamboat Keystone State Saturday, brained George Robinson, whom he accused of cheating, with a club. Both men are deckhands. Barry escaped.
